

SO MR. KINNOCK IS ANGRY!

WE HAVE COME INTO POSSESSION of a report published earlier this year in The Daily Mirror in which Labour Leader Neil Kinnock made an ostentatious display of his 'anger' at the dramatic rise in violent crimes in Britain and in particular at the fact that, due to this rise and the type of environment it has created, great numbers of old folk are now living in constant dread. Says Mr. Kinnock:—

"People, particularly the old, cower at home for fear of going out and for fear of who might come in..."

"When I read of attacks on old ladies or children I am filled with total outrage. Nothing, absolutely nothing, makes me as angry as that."

And in support of his theme as to how society has changed for the worse Mr. Kinnock also said:—

"In the area in which I grew up in the 1950s, everybody shared the duty of keeping an eye on the kids and on each other's homes. It was common everywhere. That wasn't being nosy. It was being neighbourly."

"Now the doors are bolted in streets all over Britain."

To which we can only reply: Well, well! It really is touching to hear that Mr. Kinnock is 'angry' about the present-day danger to Britain's old folk.

For Labour's Leader has been one of the strongest supporters of one of the major causes — probably the major cause — of the rise of violent crime against which he fulminates: the coloured invasion of our country.

RACE FACTOR IGNORED

It is a very thinly concealed fact that the biggest menace to the old people of whom Mr. Kinnock speaks comes in inner city areas where a high concentration of black immigrants and their offspring have settled, and where mainly black muggers roam the streets looking for elderly victims.

But of course — not a word about this in Mr. Kinnock's diatribe against violent crime and his professed sympathy for its victims. There could hardly be, because Mr. Kinnock is one of the leading champions of multiracial Britain. He simply fawns over the black people and stridently attacks as 'racialist' anyone who suggests it would be better if they were not here.

No doubt, as Mr. Kinnock says, people were neighbourly in the area where he grew up, and helped each other in the maintenance of safety and peace.

For Mr. Kinnock grew up in a small town in South Wales where black immigrants were scarcely ever seen. His was a closely-knit homogeneous community — far from the multi-racial hell of Brixton, Toxteth, Moss Side or Harmsworth.

He says that the doors are now bolted in streets all over Britain. Not quite all over Britain, Mr. Kinnock. Principally in the multi-racial areas.

For these are the areas that are unsafe. And in those areas it is almost impossible for people to be 'neighbourly' because one section of them has scarcely anything in common with the other.

HYPOCRITE

In the manner of his 'outrage' against violent crime and his professions of compassion for the old folk who suffer most from it, Mr. Neil Kinnock is a snivelling hypocrite.

He knows it is popular to attack the violent criminals and to sympathise with their elderly prey. It wins votes.

But he also knows that it is not 'permitted' to name the identity of the majority of muggers and violent raiders of homes, for that would offend the powerful 'race relations' lobby, which dictates what public thinking must be on such matters.

The fact is that this vicious crime wave is not going to be fought effectively until we tackle it at its main source — by making Britain's inner city areas again white areas. Mr. Kinnock knows this but he hasn't the guts to say so. He is just another of those politicians who are trying to ride incompatible horses: opposition to rising crime and support of the multi-racial society.

Come off it, Mr. Kinnock — you kid us not!

CRIME in Britain is rising relentlessly. In the first three years of Mrs Thatcher's Government:

- Violent offences went UP 24 per cent.
- Criminal damage went UP 36 per cent.
- Burglary went UP 43 per cent.
- Robbery went UP 74 per cent.

In the area in which I grew up in the 1950s, everybody shared the duty of keeping an eye on the kids and on each others' homes. It was common everywhere.

That wasn't being nosy. It was being neighbourly.

Now the doors are bolted in streets all over Britain.

People, particularly the old, cower at home for fear of going out and for fear of who might come in.

I know that the clock won't be turned back to the days of my boyhood.

But the truth is that the only way to restore that feeling of security is to return to the spirit of Good Neighbours. People who stick together to help each other.

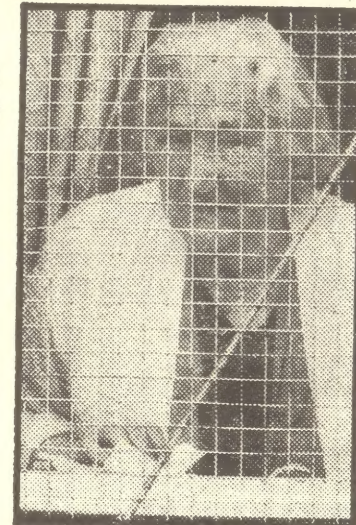

For that, there must be more support from Government policies and from the police. We need the police back on the beat—in touch, in contact—not fiddling around in panda cars.

WHEN I read of attacks on old ladies or children I am filled with total outrage. Nothing, absolutely nothing, makes me as angry as that.

because they just cannot keep up the mortgage payments.

The basic need of a secure life is a good home. Yet in Britain in 1984 there are still millions in inadequate homes, damp homes, homes without bathrooms or lavatories, overcrowded homes, homes that are unfit for humans to live in.

WHERE DO THEY STAND?

ONE QUESTION which is becoming ever more insistent is that of the Jews.

Official Jewish bodies and Jewish pressure groups are increasingly adopting open and public political stances absolutely hostile to white racial interests (and ultimately white survival) both in Britain and everywhere else in the white world where they have set up their colonies. In view of this fact, we Nationalists feel entitled to raise certain questions about loyalties.

Taking one small example from among the many that can be garnered from any extensive survey of the Jewish press in Britain, a body called the "Jewish Cultural and Anti-Racist Project" (JCARP) recently invited the extreme left-wing, half-caste vice-chairman of the GLC's Ethnic Minorities Committee, Paul Boateng (also noted for his agitation of his fellow Blacks against the police), to deliver an address on the theme "Fighting Racism Today - A Role for the Jewish Community." This fanatical diatribe of anti-white, anti-British hatred was delivered as part of what was only the first in a series of JCARP meetings to discuss "The Extent of Racism and Anti-Semitism in Britain" and to formulate "appropriate responses" by the Black and Jewish communities in collaboration against what Boateng describes as their common enemy, "The Extreme Right" ("Racism, Sexism and Capitalism" (sic)).

Coming from such a source, this sort of language can only imply the adoption of subversive intentions on the part of Jewry against the white society which is its host, an alliance between the Jews and the political underworld of the extreme left and its black revolutionary mobs. It would also imply plans and projects within Jewry which go far beyond the mere securing of Jewish "survival" in the face of "persecution" which we hear so much about. The Jews would appear to see their natural alignment as being with those who intend the revolutionary destruction of our country.

This must be viewed against the background of the Jews' real status in Britain. Not only do they enjoy, as in all other western countries, full rights and privileges of citizenship; in general they also have a level of wealth, political influence, and immunity to our current adverse economic and social conditions not possessed by most of our people, the host in whose land they have settled.

Naturally, no decent Briton would bear any grudge against anyone who achieved personal success by his own enterprise and honest hard work. Such are, after all, values basic to the outlook and way of life of our own race. But for Jews this does not appear to be the ambition. None of the advantages they have come to enjoy seems to stop them wanting very much more.

'ZIMBABWE' SHOWS FULL HORROR OF BLACK DOMINATION

JOHN MORSE

AFTER FOUR YEARS of 'independence' under black rule the African pseudo-state of 'Zimbabwe' (formerly white Rhodesia) has dissolved into economic chaos and stands on the brink of tribal civil war. The remnant of the white population (a mere 100,000 or less, as compared with the quarter of a million at the time of the Thatcher-Carrington betrayal of the Whites to the rule of black Communist terrorist Robert Mugabe) now finds itself defenceless against black savagery!

In the four years of black control almost everything in the way of order and prosperity, the exclusive creation of the white man, has been wrecked.

At the time of the Thatcher-Carrington sell-out Rhodesia had a viable, diverse economic base so strong that it had easily been able to afford the £1,000,000 per day required for the war effort against Mugabe's and Nkomo's terrorists. Its inflation rate, at 4 per cent, was one of the lowest in the world.

But the political outlook of the Rhodesians had grave weaknesses. The Thatcher government induced the Rhodesian leadership under Ian Smith to concede control of their country to Mugabe and his Red terrorists by means of typically cynical treachery. This was only possible because that leadership was sufficiently weak and liberal as to accept the principle of Black Rule in the first place. The weakness was almost universal among Rhodesian Whites.

ECONOMY BUILT BY WHITE ENTERPRISE

White intelligence and enterprise had built a strong economy in the country. But this had been achieved by reliance on black labour and by means which encouraged black population growth. With the elimination of disease and starvation by European British Nationalist, though it believes in racial differences, opposes racial hatred. All those who oppose multi-racialism should attack the politicians who promote it, not the immigrants, who are merely its victims.

TWO BLACK race relations workers who carried out a £44,000 raid on a Stratford, East London, jewellers were jailed by Snaresbrook Crown Court recently. Detectives at Slough, Bucks., have revealed that Abdul Rashid, whom they wanted for questioning following the death of 42-year-old Mrs. Maureen Scully, has flown home to Pakistan. Britain has no extradition treaty with the Pakistani government.

medicine, technology and economic development, the African population was enabled to grow by almost thirty times between 1890 and 1980. Thus Rhodesia acquired a population 7½ million primitive Blacks whose average IQ of 70 is at moron level. This vast mass of inferiors was set in motion by international forces to wage a campaign men had built over some 90 years was handed over to incompetent savages through the moral weakness of the Rhodesians and the trickery of the sleazy little Westminster politicians, who are utterly without loyalty to their own race.

As their reward the Whites have seen their work destroyed and have suffered political terror and humiliation at black hands.

"I have given my life to try to alleviate the sufferings of Africa. There is something that all white men who have lived here like I must learn and know: that these individuals are a sub-race. They have neither the intellectual, mental or emotional abilities to equate or to share equally with white men in any of the functions of our civilisation."

"I have given my life to try to bring unto them the advantages which our civilisation must offer, but I have become well aware that we must retain this status: (white) the superior and they the inferior. For whenever a white man seeks to live among them as their equals they will either destroy him or devour him. And they will destroy all his work."

"Let white men from anywhere in the world, who would come to help Africa, remember that you must continually retain this status; you the master and they the inferior like children that you would help or teach. Never fraternise with them as equals. Never accept them as your social equals or they will devour you. They will destroy you."

of terrorism and murder against a civilised and technically very capable white population on whose vastly superior abilities those inferiors themselves depended for their own physical survival.

The Whites for their part were so besotted with liberal ideas about "raising the African" to European standards that they had lost sight of reality to the extent of accepting the absurd idea that Blacks can be given political rights. Everything that white

With the replacement of Whites in the government and civil service by Blacks, an orgy of corruption and financial mismanagement has crippled the economy of "Zimbabwe". Inflation has soared to 20 per cent by April 1984 while the black Marxists in control plundered the productive and capable Whites with monstrous taxation to subsidise the feckless, moronic and unproductive elements among their own people. The maize surplus, produced by white Rhodesian farmers, that existed in 1980 was sold cheaply or given away to neighbouring black countries (all close to starvation) which played host to Mugabe's thugs during his anti-white murder campaign of the 1970s.

PRODUCTION COLLAPSED

In the industrial sector production has collapsed as Whites have quit the chaos of "Zimbabwe". 1,000 a month leave the country, despite the government prohibition on their taking their savings with them, and as they do so their skills and high professional standards are replaced by miserably low black standards. The economy has been ruined to such an extent that, with drought gripping the country, a large part of its population faces famine. Britain, America and Europe are now expected to give handouts to save the "Zimbabweans".

This is more or less the cycle of events in every black country which has ever been given its "independence" from white rule.

The emigration of Whites has also been stimulated by the breakdown of law and order as black criminality and savagery take hold in a country where Europeans have renounced power. Because of the way in which the white Rhodesians voluntarily agreed to their own dispossession, they are, not surprisingly, despised by their former black subjects, who naturally delight in any opportunity to humiliate and inflict violence on them.

The fact is that, even in the worst period of Rhodesia's anti-terrorist war, a truly resolute leadership, prepared to use its military and police power to the full, could easily have restored order and maintained white supremacy for all time. This is true for Whites everywhere. But Rhodesia was controlled by liberals, just as Britain is controlled by liberals.

Consequently, the Whites find themselves in a worse state of insecurity than during their war against African terrorism. They live in an environment dominated by their racial enemies, without control of police, armed forces or any means of self-defence. They are just a mass of helpless individuals.

The lessons are there to be learnt by Whites all over the world. Weakness does not lead aliens to show either sympathy or mercy. Whites, and Whites alone, must hold power.

And Whites must appoint as their political leaders only those who will be ruthless in eliminating alien races from their society.

YOUR LETTERS

Sir,—Surely the shooting of a person in Britain in cold blood by the representatives of a foreign government constitutes an act of war. In this case I believe the British Government would be justified in taking whatever action was necessary for the removal of the suspected murderer from the Libyan "People's Bureau". After all, little attention was paid to diplomacy when the Government decided to drop bombs on German civilians in World War II.

As for the claim that any such action would endanger the lives of Britons in Libya, I believe that events have proven this also to be unjustifiable. The shooting of an unarmed woman is surely an act only to be committed by a coward. How many times have the IRA quite rightly been accused of cowardice for their attacks on ordinary people? This cowardice is very likely consistent with the Libyan government representatives all the way up to Gaddafi himself.

Any government that is truly representative of the British people would not allow such an act to go unpunished, and likewise any reprisals against Britons in Libya would not be ignored. The Libyan Government under such circumstances would not dare carry out any reprisals against Britons.

Unfortunately the Conservative Party seems to have decided that this incident does not constitute as large a threat to its popularity as did the invasion of the Falkland Islands.

As the May issue of British Nationalist excellently put it: "... the total destruction of the British people does not matter a damn if it helps Tory politicians to keep their overfed snouts firmly into the trough in Britain's present day political pig sty."

THE PEOPLE WHO ARE KEEPING US DIVIDED

THE DRAMATIC SUCCESS of the Nationalist Front Nationale in France has highlighted the comparative political impotence of Nationalism here in Britain. Yet it was only a few years ago that the British National Front, then indisputably the leading Nationalist movement in this country, was larger and stronger than its French counterpart.

That the FN is now a considerable force in France while Nationalism languishes in Britain should give us all food for deep thought.

Obviously, the first thing that we British Nationalists have to do if we are to match the progress of our French friends is to end our petty factional divisions and UNITE.

That we are not united is still incomprehensible to many followers of British Nationalism. These people are for ever writing to us to ask the reasons for this disunity.

We are issuing this statement to keep everybody up to date with the position.

A few weeks ago British National Party Chairman John Tyndall received a letter from a leading official of the National Front, a member of the NF National Directorate. From this letter came an exchange of correspondence in which the NF official asked Mr. Tyndall if he was prepared to meet representatives of the NF leadership to discuss unification of the two parties.

Mr. Tyndall replied that he was indeed prepared to meet the NF leaders. This had always been his position and it was his position now.

The NF official then said he would put the same question to his colleagues in the Front: were they likewise prepared to meet Mr. Tyndall? In due course he wrote back to Mr. Tyndall to say that they were not.

There the matter stands at the time we go to press. The division in the ranks of British Nationalism is not the wish nor the making of the British National Party; responsibility for it falls squarely on the leadership of the National Front. It is they who are keeping the Nationalist movement divided and in political imbo.

The remedy for this unhappy situation lies in the hands of the great mass of British Nationalists of the rank-and-file. They have it within their power to reject the little men of division and join forces with us in the BNP. If they choose to take this step, they will — with a tiny few exceptions — find a warm welcome waiting for them.

And then, united, let us set about demonstrating that what has been done in France can be done in Britain!

Mr. Janner tries to lay down the law

GREVILLE JANNER, MP, President of the Jewish Board of Deputies, made a protest to the Home Secretary against a proposed visit to Britain in July by the leader of the French National Front, M. Jean-Marie Le Pen, who it was suggested, might address an anti-immigration rally. Janner wanted any such visit banned.

M. Le Pen's party stands, like Nationalists in Britain, for the repatriation of the coloured immigrant population (mostly Algerian in the case of France) which has been encouraged by the corrupt figures of the established political system to flood into the country — to the point at which there is now an alien element numbering some millions. As in the case of Britain the coloured population has contributed disproportionately to a rise in violent crime. In addition, immigrants occupy jobs at the expense of white workers in a time of high unemployment.

M. Le Pen has never proclaimed any sort of policy against the Jews. His appeal is a down-to-earth Nationalism based on work, order and patriotism.

Evidently, Janner disapproves of such values — at least for Gentiles — and opposes the spread of M. Le Pen's idea that a white nation should remain racially uniform. France and Britain both have serious race problems, whose solution Mr. Janner seems to regard as opposed to Jewish interests. Hence his use of organised Jewish power and wealth to bring pressure to bear for bans on any sort of free expression for those who would defend the white majority against multi-racialism.

This is not the first time Janner has claimed the right to dictate to the British people on behalf of his own numerically tiny minority; there have been other exhibitions of overbearing arrogance in recent years. One proposal aired by Janner and other Jewish MPs was that members of British Nationalist organisations should be prohibited from displaying the Union Jack in the course of their activities. Another was that it should be made ILLEGAL in Britain to question the historical accuracy of the endless Jewish claims about the so-called 'Holocaust'.

Janner wants to dictate how and when we Britons are to be allowed to display our own national flag; how and when we may enjoy our historic rights of free speech; and what citizens of foreign countries we may have as guests in our own land. In all of this, the overriding criterion is to be what the Jews might find pleasing or displeasing.

In the case of M. Le Pen, Janner has perhaps been panicked by the dramatic success of his party both in French and European elections. Le Pen has gained very large votes in a number of French contests. In the elections to the European Parliament no less than 11 per-cent of the votes cast by the French electorate went to the National Front. This was only by a very narrow margin behind the Stalinist Communist Party, which has had nearly forty years to build up its position in French politics, basing its appeal on its dominance in the wartime Resistance. Le Pen is said to have shaken the whole position of President Mitterrand, who depends on Communist support to keep his left-wing coalition in power.

Can it be that, like all enemies of Nationalism, Greville Janner knows that what can be done in one white country today can be done in another tomorrow, that today's achievements can be far surpassed in the future, and that the logical end result will be the triumphant liberation of Britain and all white nations from domination by aliens?

HOW 'POP' IS USED TO POISON MINDS

BRITAIN is being systematically subverted, poisoned and weakened within by a wide variety of techniques, operating at many levels including Politics, Industry, the Church, the Arts and, not least, the world of popular entertainment.

The popular entertainment industry has now become mainly the preserve of racial aliens, queers and left-wingers. For films it leans heavily on Hollywood, which is almost exclusively Jewish-controlled. Jews such as Stuart Young, Chairman of the BBC, and Jeremy Isaacs, boss of Channel Four, strengthen the alien hold on 'British' television, while the same race enjoys enormous power over the 'pop' music industry by ownership of a number of the big recording companies, a large portion of the agencies and publishers and the network of popular entertainment halls in which 'pop' concerts are held.

WHAT POPULAR MUSIC OUGHT TO BE

Popular music in any country should reflect the musical soul of the indigenous race, in Britain's case the closely related Anglo-Saxon and Celtic races. It should represent in simplified form the same basic musical themes as prevail in the more serious forms of music belonging to the native soil. In the case of native British music, there is a kinship of melody, harmony and rhythm with the traditional music of Europe, and in particular Northern Europe. Our music should, in other words, be Northern European. Imported musical styles from America are acceptable so long as they are rooted in America's Northern European (mainly British) origins.

Negro band (top) and mixed group 'Hot Gossip' (below) are used to promote race-mixing.

Racially alien musical forms, in particular those of Negroid origins, should have no part of the popular music of Britain and the West.

In addition to being national and race-orientated, popular music should, like its more serious counterpart, have the purpose of uplifting rather than degrading. It should exalt healthy virtues, such as true romantic love (as opposed to cheap sex), love of country and countryside, adventure, courage, heroism, honour, comradeship, nature, work and the family virtues.

In addition, it should portray the qualities of true masculinity and femininity in the types of people who act as its purveyors. Popular singers and instrumentalists tend to become idols and models for our young. If the young are going to emulate them, it is desirable that they be the best specimens of manhood and womanhood.

Popular music today, like all the rest of popular entertainment, serves exactly the opposite purpose. It promotes, in the form of 'male' singers, a kind of effeminacy that is an insult to both male and female species. Male 'pop' singers look like poofs, have the voices of poofs and emit lyrics which often sound like the bleatings of poofs.

The latest 'idol' of the pop music industry is a creature called 'Boy George', who is a transvestite and self-acknowledged bi-sexual. 'His' singing voice — if such it can be called — is a castrated whine. 'He' is a specimen of degeneration in every sense of the word.

Yet 'he' has been energetically promoted by the alien czars of the 'pop' industry. 'He' earns millions while the most accomplished singers of really good music are paupers by comparison. He has now been praised by officialdom as a 'dollar-earner'.

PROMOTION OF MULTI-RACIALISM

Other themes promoted through 'pop' music include multi-racialism and the humiliation of the white race. Typical of this is a group called 'Hot Gossip', which comprises decadent little white sluts who do a dance routine with muscular young negroes in which the white females are constantly portrayed in degrading positions in relation to their black partners. Not the least farcical and far-fetched aspect of the 'Hot Gossip' act is the fact that the Blacks when adopting their domineering dance poses are sometimes seen wearing Nazi-type apparel! The director of the 'Hot Gossip' group is a Jewess.

'Pop' music has in addition also glorified drug-taking, rioting and lawlessness, pacifism, Communism, homosexuality and hatred of Britain.

It is high time that this obnoxious medium for the subversion of our country, and particularly of its youth, was taken out of the hands of its present controllers and placed in the hands of people who will cleanse it of these pernicious influences and turn it again into an art form that will not only entertain but uplift, which will promote in young British people the virtues needed to make our nation strong.

Our party, the British National Party, is dedicated to the eventual achievement of that aim.

Black thugs continue terror campaign against young white mother

SOME MONTHS AGO we printed the story of a young mother, Mrs. Sally Meynhart, who was viciously attacked by a gang of black muggers as she was taking her baby daughter out near her home in Streatham, South London. In order to induce her to part with the contents of her handbag, the Blacks not only stabbed her in the leg but also slashed her little girl, Nicola, across the face with a razor.

Later Sally was threatened by the Blacks for reporting the matter to the police.

We have now heard that just recently this campaign of threats and intimidation has continued. After having to have a 24-hour police guard at her Streatham house, she moved in April of this year to a new 'secret' address in Croydon. But the gang managed to track her down there and re-opened the reign of terror they had imposed on her. First she had a sick letter pushed through her door threatening to kill her and her two children, Nicola (2) and 3-year-old Natalie.

Then a short time afterwards she was waylaid and beaten up by the gang, suffering a broken arm and severe bruising.

Police think that the gang might have discovered her new address by first discovering the workplace of her husband, John, and then following him home from work.

We wonder what the culprits will get if caught. Perhaps a suspended sentence of 3 months and a mitigating plea by the magistrate that they have been the victims of Britain's 'racist' society!

BETRAYAL OF THE DEAD

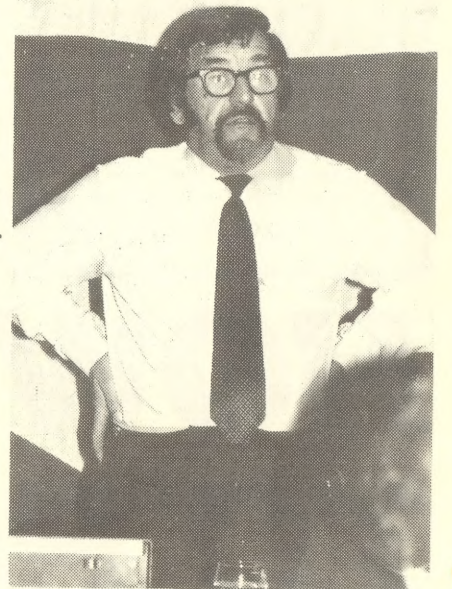

They lie forgotten, those who died
In Europe's war-torn land.
They thought they died to set us free
From Tyranny's cruel hand.
But those they left behind to mourn
Are gone — and in their place
Has come a selfish and a kind of cold uncaring race,
Who think memorials are a waste
Of money better spent

On making life a feather-bed
For those who never went.
They scoff at medals, proudly worn,
And ridicule the brave,
Who, for the sake of land and folk
Ended in a soldier's grave.
The guns are silent; peace abounds;
The tyrant now is greed.
They lie forgotten, those who died,
May God forgive their seed.

Lively meetings in Manchester and London

TWO PUBLIC MEETINGS staged by the British National Party in Manchester and London recently suggest a change in tactics on the part of the left-wing opposition. The opposition stayed away completely from both the meetings, and the latter took place in an atmosphere of complete peace and order — showing again what we have always said: that when there is trouble at Nationalist meetings the trouble is always caused by the opponents of Nationalism and not by Nationalists themselves. Evidently, in the aftermath of the left-wing demonstration and disturbance at the BNP's Liverpool rally in April the leftists have decided that their intervention only helps the BNP by gaining it publicity, and this probably accounts for the absence of any left-wing opposition in Manchester and London.

The Manchester meeting on June 23rd was a great success. Nearly 150 were in attendance and responded with tremendous enthusiasm to speeches by David Bruce, John Wood and BNP Leader John Tyndall. Several people belonging to other Nationalist factions were present at the meeting and were impressed by the theme of Nationalist unity that recurred in the speeches. Some of these have subsequently applied to join the BNP.

MEETING AT PUTNEY

The location for the London meeting on July 6th was Putney. This location had been chosen because the Putney area was one of the very few in which the party could obtain an open booking of council-owned premises. Putney area comes under the now Conservative-controlled Wandsworth Borough Council, and it is to the credit of the Council that they stood by the principle of free speech in granting the BNP the use of one of their local halls, the Dryburgh Hall.

Despite the meeting being advertised in BNP publications and by leaflets, no opposition materialised. The Putney area of London is one of the weakest as far as BNP membership is concerned and a large attendance at the meeting was not expected. In addition, the holding of the meeting on a weekday (Friday) did not permit any support from the provinces. In the event, slightly less than 100 were present — which was a good attendance considering all circumstances, including the coincidence of the peak holiday period. Some came from other parts of London, but there was a surprisingly good turn-out from nearby districts — holding out promise that soon the BNP may have the makings of an active organisation in South West London for the first time.

The meeting was chaired by Greenwich Organiser Terry Fitzgerald. Richard Edmonds then spoke on the need to step up street activity on behalf of the party. David Bruce followed mainly on the theme of unemployment and the need to protect British industries. John Tyndall concluded, with much emphasis on the racial issue and on the need for Nationalist unity which, he said, had been underlined by recent electoral failures contrasted with the great electoral success of Nationalism in France.

S.W. DEMO

DEVON AND CORNWALL activists of the BNP made their presence felt earlier this month at a showing of 'Anne Frank's Diary' at a theatre in Plymouth. The activists staged a demonstration exposing the performance as lying Zionist propaganda, with the aid of a mock coffin symbolising the burial of truth. The demo won good local publicity.

CORNWALL ACTIVE

THE LIVELY Liskeard (Cornwall) branch of the BNP, led by Cornwall Area Organiser David Cullingford, held a meeting to which members from all over the Duchy came to hear speakers Len Bearsford-Walker and Gordon Cummins call for an all-out effort on the part of members and supporters to recruit new members. A countywide sales campaign of British Nationalist is planned and stalwart Richard Trehane will lead a team of door-to-door salesmen in Truro, Bodmin and Looe. Already remarkable success has been achieved and Tom Stone and Will Teagle — lost to the BNP for a while — have rejoined to lend welcome support to the Cornish revival of Nationalism.

T-SHIRTS FOR SALE

B.N.P. T-shirts are now available from Glasgow Branch. The T-shirts cost £4 plus 29p postage and can be obtained from Glasgow BNP, PO Box 86, Glasgow G3 8UL.

EDITORIAL

are concerned, quite opposite ideals are upheld for their own people.

Under the banner of Zionism, the Jews have become the most exclusive and tightly-knit tribe on earth. They acknowledge no obligations arising from their citizenship of our own country which might interfere with their own separate and international loyalties. Their global solidarity is focussed on the Zionist State of Israel, whose genocidal imperialism is flatly contrary to British interests.

Jewish political influence, financed by Jewish wealth, can distort the conduct of British affairs at home and abroad. This is intolerable. Jews will ultimately have to decide where their loyalties lie.

Are they going to opt for unconditional membership of the British people or do they wish to be the dominant caste in some future multi-racial international order?

The decision is theirs.

SUNDERLAND GROUP

A NEW ACTIVE GROUP of the British National Party has now been started in Sunderland. Previously Sunderland activists worked as part of the nearby Tyneside Branch but they are now strong enough to be able to hold activities on their own. The Sunderland group is led by Kevin Scott.
